ABOUT HESTA

Focused on handling search and communications for buyers, sellers and listing agents, Hesta guarantees enhancing the property search process in a unique way through a single platform connecting all property stakeholders.

THE CHALLENGE

Hesta's goal was to improve communications in the real estate industry. They needed a software development team capable of creating an app that combined an interactive map allowing their users to easily find their next property and a Calendar that organized all the showings.

Also, notifications to users on any changes, the ability to share the information between stakeholders, and a chat feature ensuring seamless communication. The major challenge was to provide all of these features and information in a simple Dashboard.

WHAT WE DID

We redesigned and made major enhancements to the front-end web application creating an easily accessible application with intuitive navigation and a simple to use property search system.

We also developed the IOS mobile application and back-end system almost from scratch facilitating on-the-go communication and providing online support on a scalable platform for a rapidly evolving market.

RESULTS & TAKEAWAYS

Thanks to HestaHome, productivity is possible from anywhere with a single tool.

All the parties involved in the showing can now effortlessly coordinate the schedules leaving behind the problems of the past.

The team was a great company to work with. All of the folks were very skilled, professional, and went above and beyond what I expected. The developers truly became part of the team... not acting like it was just another project. These guys wanted to see the project succeed and really took a personal ownership and responsibility for a quality product. Truly a pleasure to work with them!
